

The ReDefine Next 100 program brings together selected young leaders from diverse fields including (but not limited to) humanities, social sciences, engineering, medicine, computing science, art and the natural sciences. Top young leaders identify the issue they perceive to be the paramount global challenge in the future. GARI will put the selected candidates into diverse international teams, that incorporate innovative ideas from various respective fields and propose a way to address a global challenge.

ReDefine Next 100 challenges young leaders to think outside the box, and look at the world through the lens of opportunity, promoting the use of technology and innovation to address global challenges.

ReDefine Next 100 Global Youth Programme

The Global Arena Research Institute (GARI) looks for extraordinary young people (aged 18-35) from across the world, with proven commitment and engagement, to represent innovation and the future. Young people are 'movers and shakers' in their communities and countries, and are key to solving the universal challenges outlined by GARI and the N100.

Debate with global leaders, actors and stakeholders at the Next 100 Symposium!

The ReDefiner teams will present at the Next 100 Symposium and speak on high-level panel discussions along with key leaders in the field. Team members will have the opportunity to present challenging ideas to the audience and engage with key global actors, including governments and international organisation delegations.

Each panel addresses one of the N100 topic areas, which you can read about here. The top ReDefiner teams will be chosen to speak on one of these N100 Areas.

- ★ We're looking for cross-disciplinarity, innovative/new approaches, and out-of-the-box thinking.
 - ★ We're looking for ideas that bring together both the fields of technology (data science, innovation, digitalisation, AI, Machine Learning, etc.) and the fields of the social sciences (economy, politics, society, environment, natural sciences, etc.)
 - ★ We're looking for originality. We are looking for unicorns.

- Applicants must be able to travel to and participate in ReDefine Next 100 2019 in Prague (Czech Republic) from November 14 - 22.

Application rules

- Applications and proposals must involve the field of technology and innovation. Applications not involving this element will not be considered. Be bold and original!
- You must feel comfortable and knowledgeable about the topics of your choice and they must relate closely to your interests and expertise. We will be choosing applicants based on this.
- Answers that are extremely short will not be considered sufficient to respond to the question.
- Do not copy & paste paragraphs just to make up the character count, these answers will not count and your application will be disqualified.

Evaluation criteria

We will evaluate your application based on 5 criteria:

1. Your passion, experience and potential in innovation & technology and how it can be applied in your chosen field/topic of engagement/project.
2. A passion for innovative, cross-disciplinary critical thinking
3. Your knowledge of your chosen topic and the relevance of your active engagement. We encourage candidates to show how their activities have had an impact or to articulate the potential impact of their proposed project.
4. Your role as a representative of an organisation, other youth or community, and your leadership experience or potential.
5. The originality of the idea and depth of suggested solution to challenge.

Application Stages

1. Application stage - You will be required to fill out the application form and submit it online. You can submit a short video to go along with your application. We recommend that you do submit a video.

2. Evaluation & Communication stage - top young people will be chosen and notified in July
 3. Selection of ReDefiners stage - Beginning of August
 4. Mentoring stage
 - a. You will be placed into groups of 3-5 people
 - b. You will be required to go through some mentoring of the ReDefine program online
 - c. You will be required to communicate and plan with your group online and long-distance to prepare your group project
 - d. You will be required to submit your draft project before you come to the ReDefine N100 program in November.
 5. Finalisation & Evaluation stage, where groups will complete their projects online and submit them for review. An evaluation panel will review and evaluate the final projects and decide on the top projects that have realisation and application potential.
 6. November programme - 14-22. November - will bring the top projects/groups to Prague again to complete their projects and present them at the Next 100 Symposium.

What we are looking for in each application

If you were disqualified or did not move on to the next evaluation stage, it is likely you did not comply with the application's instructions and purpose.

Applicant Profile Section

- ❖ Student or Working.. I am/have -
 - enrolled student at a university: currently studying at a university, and will be studying at a university in November 2019
 - pursuing a career & finished university: you are no longer enrolled in a university OR will no longer be a student in November 2019, & are employed/pursuing a career (do not tick this if you are unemployed)
 - both studying at university and pursuing a career (this does not include a job to make money on the side, eg. work at a restaurant or as a receptionist): you are an enrolled student at a university as well as an employee or pursuing a career,
 - not studying and am not pursuing a career

 - ❖ Highest Degree Achieved/Currently enrolled in - please choose which level you have completed or are currently enrolled in. If you're no longer a student and last studied as a Masters student that please tick "Masters". If you are still enrolled and currently studying at a university as a Masters student, please tick that.

 - ❖ University name - Please state the official name of the university you are currently enrolled in or the last University you attended if you are no longer a student. Please type after this: the city, state and country of that university, separated by commas (eg. University of Cambridge, Cambridge, UK)

 - ❖ Degree Pursued/Pursuing - What is/was the title of your degree? (for example: "International Relations" or "Engineering")

 - ❖ Choose 4 areas of your greatest interest - You should have at least minimal experience in these areas or a strong interest with compelling knowledge

Application Questions

- ❖ Why should you be chosen as a Next 100 ReDefiner?
This is your personal statement, where you outline elements from your CV. This is where you should describe your ambitions, skills, experience that will make you stand out for the ReDefine N100 program. What makes you a ReDefiner? Why should we choose you and not someone else? We want you to convince us you are the best candidate for this program by describing your achievements. (minimum of 3,000 characters)
- ❖ What does "innovation" mean to you in 2019 and beyond?
Briefly, tell us what "innovation 2019 and beyond" means to you as a concept in practice and as an opportunity. (maximum 2,000 characters)
- ❖ What do you perceive as the greatest challenge & opportunity of the future?
What innovations have there been and are being developed that you perceive to be paramount to tackling global or local issues? What opportunities do we have now, rather than before, to approach and shape the future? What do you perceive to be the greatest challenge facing us? We are looking for innovation and a future-looking perspective. We want our ReDefiners to know the issue they are describing well, including the progress and development of the issue. If you are talking about hunger/climate/AI ethics/education/etc, what are the latest developments and attempted solutions? Is there room for innovation? Why is this issue going to be a challenge in the next 100 years? Not "why has your issue been a challenge in the past." (minimum of 3,000 characters)
- ❖ How would you use & apply innovative approaches as a project/endeavour/idea for transforming those challenges into opportunities?
APPLICATION AND PROPOSALS MUST INVOLVE THE FIELD OF INNOVATION, and ideally elements of technology. Be bold and original! What makes your idea innovative? Is it using technology to tackle the issue? What makes your approach worth the ReDefine Next 100 program? This must be an original new project written specifically for this ReDefine Application. Proposals for projects that have been written prior to this application, or that were written for other purposes and applied will not be considered! (Minimum of 4,000 characters)
- ❖ Be bold and original!
- ❖ This must be an original new idea written specifically for this ReDefine Application. Proposals for projects that have been written prior to this application, or that were written for other purposes and have been started will not be considered!
- ❖ Submit a 2-4 minute video answering "How can innovative approaches transform challenges into opportunities in the future? (across disciplines) - Please paste the link to the video and make sure access is open, and a password is not required. We recommend uploading the video on YouTube and pasting the link to it below. This must be an original video filmed specifically for this ReDefine application. Videos for projects that have been filmed prior to this application or that were filmed for other purposes will not be considered. This is not mandatory, if you do not wish to submit a video, it won't disqualify your application, however, we recommend you do, as it most certainly will help it.

Submission Checks

Do you need a scholarship to take part in the ReDefine N100 programme 2019?

Global Arena Research Institute wishes to provide as many full or partial scholarships as possible, however, this is dependant on funding received from outside sources.
